

Fayum Mummy Portrait

Roman Egypt, c. 100-120 AD - British Museum EA29772

An encaustic portrait painted on a round-topped limewood panel, showing a woman wearing a myrtle wreath and gold jewellery added in gold leaf. Portraits like this were placed over the face of the deceased and are among the few surviving panel paintings of antiquity.